

Pica8 in Your Remote or Branch Office

Today's IT Applications are the Lifeblood of Business

When they're hacked or unavailable for any reason, your revenue stops cold. The IT Apps serve and support every aspect of operations, from marketing products and services, to sales, production, delivery, inventory, collections, payments, accounting and communications with customers.

When they're up and running, you're producing revenue and profits as customers shop or order what they want, check out and consume your services or leave with their newly acquired goods. Your staff sells and prepares or delivers customers' orders, re-stocks, cleans up and is ready for more.

Unless your IT Apps are available, you're dead in the water. No sales, curtailed shifts or maybe closed for the day. There's no real PoS backup – only "cash orders" or "Web orders for future delivery can get serviced. Gone today is the mechanical credit card imprinter: and many new chip cards have no raised numbers.
